InSite Services Expands Loan Modification Processing System for Kardia Capital

New RightMod™ Features Enable Kardia to Expand Distribution Channels and Improve Service Delivery

DALLAS, TX --- December 14, 2009 – InSite Services, a leading provider of on-demand/SaaS business process management technology services, today announced the expansion of the RightMod™ loan modification processing system with Kardia Capital, a professional services company providing loan modification solutions to homeowners.

Originally launched in early 2009, RightMod™ is a comprehensive web-based solution designed to automate loan modification processing activities across all business process stakeholders including homeowners, sales agents, lenders, and Kardia Capital operations. To meet the evolving business requirements of Kardia, InSite is delivering new RightMod™ capabilities that enable Kardia to significantly expand business operations through new distribution channels and additional client services. RightMod™ will now offer Kardia the ability to accept home loan modification applications from a range of new distribution partners while maintaining the same strict quality control of each loan modification through the completion of the loan modification process. In addition, new enhancements to RightMod™ will enable Kardia to more effectively provide services to clients such as home loan audits. Finally, new real-time dashboard reporting will provide Kardia management with the ability to more closely monitor key business metrics for faster, more effective decision-making.

“The new RightMod™ enhancements will enable Kardia to grow our business ten-fold while minimizing the amount of investment we must make in staff and infrastructure to accommodate the business growth,” said Jack Smith, CEO of Kardia Capital. “In addition to maximizing our profits, the new capabilities of RightMod™ mean that we can extend the same full government compliance of our processes to additional services and business partners.”
